

IT'S ALL GOING ON IN NANTWICH!!

More Than Just a Battle - What's Happening on Holly Holy Day

All events are FREE except where shown:

Battlefield Walk and Talk. Led by the Battlefield Trust from Acton Church at 10am to the site of the original battleground with a talk on the way about all that happened on the fateful day. Return in time to see the parade and battle.

Living History exhibition. See live demonstrations of how our 17th Century ancestors cooked, lived, worked and played – always a popular attraction

Forlorn Hope – Musicians playing 17th Century music on authentic period instruments

Face Painting and Tasty Treats in the Market Hall, well worth a visit!

BBC Radio Bus – See how programmes and broadcasts are put together, interactive entertainment for children on board!

Civil War Tours of the Town (small fee)

Musketry Demonstration - Up front and personal with the weapons of the day

Black Wolf Wargames table re-enactment of the battle, watch or take part, a MUST for games enthusiasts!

Traditional Town Crier

Artillery Demonstration – Deafening, but fascinating

Funky Choir – Community Choir that funks like it says on the tin!

PJ The Showman, Childrens Entertainer and Compere

Mounted Civil War Troopers parading on horses around the town

Big Choice of Hot Food and Drink establishments, plus Hog Roast

Nantwich Players act out a civil war tableau – see the Pillory put to its original use!

Plough Witches and Mollies – Rustic customs and folklore come back to life in our streets

Nantwich Throughout the Ages – Local schoolchildren parade in costumes from different periods of Nantwich's rich history

X-Academy – song and dance routines with the 'X Factor'!

Parade of Sealed Knot Soldiers and wreath laying ceremony

Oh, and there's a full blown Battle Re-enactment too!! (Admission £2 adults, £1 children, £5 family ticket, 2 adults 2 children)